

HAND-CRAFTED SPECIAL EDITION OF

ON DARKNESS

As a writer in a time of digital publications I've been wanting to strike a blow for the physical, printed book, the book as an aesthetic object and bookbinding as a craft. Having this vision I've been working closely together with graphic artist Thomas Joakim Winther and bookbinder Malene Lerager from Co'libri to create the special edition of my latest novel, On Darkness. The special edition is printed in only 100 numbered copies.

The cover is a hand-crafted print made by Thomas and I. The basis of the graphic print is a photo taken by me in one of the very central places of the novel. During the reading one will therefore experience a movement into the forest and under the trees that is the subject of the cover.

Investing in the special edition of On Darkness is an investment in a unique piece of high-quality art work. We've done our very best to create a book that is a piece of art and deserves to be exposed, touched and read.
